A True Story of Survival by Eva Hart

On April 10, 1912, the RMS Titanic set sail from Southampton, England, on its maiden voyage to New York City. The largest and most luxurious passenger liner ever built, the Titanic was considered unsinkable. However, on the night of April 14, 1912, the ship struck an iceberg and sank, killing over 1,500 people.

Eva Hart was one of the lucky survivors of the Titanic disaster. She was a seven-year-old girl traveling with her parents and two siblings. The family was asleep in their cabin when the ship hit the iceberg. Eva's father woke her and told her to get dressed. As they made their way to the lifeboats, Eva's mother stayed behind to help others.

Eva and her father boarded one of the last lifeboats to leave the Titanic. The lifeboat was overcrowded and in danger of capsizing. Eva's father held her tightly in his arms as they waited for rescue.

After several hours, the lifeboat was finally picked up by the RMS Carpathia. Eva and her father were taken to New York City, where they were reunited with Eva's mother and siblings.

Eva Hart's story is a harrowing account of the Titanic disaster. It is a story of survival, courage, and resilience.

The Sinking of the Titanic

The sinking of the Titanic was one of the deadliest maritime disasters in history. The ship was designed to be unsinkable, but it was not equipped with enough lifeboats for all of its passengers and crew.

As the Titanic sank, there was chaos on board. Passengers and crew scrambled to find lifeboats and escape the sinking ship. Many people were forced to jump into the freezing water.

The Titanic sank in less than three hours. Over 1,500 people died in the disaster.

Eva Hart's Legacy
